

Trusting anyone with one of the biggest investments of a lifetime can be nerve wracking, especially when the investment needs an investment.

Jeff Geller, president of Built Right Renovations, makes just about any project a homeowner can imagine easier to research, easier to set up and easier to get done with its new Web site.

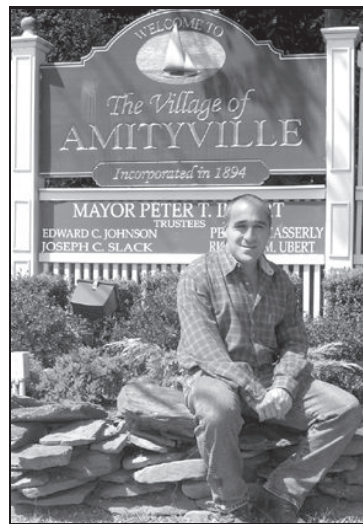

"We are a remodeling firm on Central Long Island that has been recognized as one of 'Americas Best Remodelers' by Better Homes and Gardens magazine and received the Award of Excellence by Alside Manufacturing Co. — (the pioneers of high quality exterior products) for demonstrating an exceptional level and expertise in the use of their building products."

The Web site offers constantly updated articles and a newsletter with more tips and guides to come. "Our goal is to be the best home and family resource guide to assist homeowners on Long Island."

Jeff explains that despite the company's acknowledgements, Built Right is a small firm with a staff that enjoys getting one job at a time finished and improving the living conditions of their clients. "I would like to provide our services to you," he said. "We are a full-service general contractor company, offering everything but swimming pools. We also have loans available with 100 percent financing with no money down, allowing you to start any home renovation project today."

Customers agree with the accolades. "Built Right Renovations did our kitchen, den, siding, windows and wood floors. We were very happy with the quality of workmanship and the materials used. We've received many compliments from friends and family on what an excellent job Built Right did!" a Kings Park customer said.

"What a nice feeling to watch cars slow down as they pass my house and have neighbors tell me how great the house looks,"
